MAINE DEMOCRATS READY TO DESERT

Governor's Friends Want Rest of Campaign Fought on State Issues.

"SAFETY FIRST" IS CRY

Assert Curtis Is Stronger Than Wilson as Means of Gaining Votes.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 29 .- An attempt at the eleventh hour to shift their campalen from national to State Issues may be made by the Democrats in Maine. The plan is under consideration. Among the local leaders who are said to favor such a shift are friends of Governor Gakley C. Curtis, who is a candidate re-

Friends of Governor Curtis are outsnoken in their assertions that he is stronger in the State than President Wilson. It follows, they say, that Curtis is handleapped by the necessity he is under to defend the Wilson policies, and that he would make a stronger appeal to the voters were he to run solely on his own record as State executive.

That view, according to report, does not find fovor with William R. Pattangall, who has charge of the Democratic gall, who has charge of the Democratic campaign. Up to the present, Pattangall's view has controlled and national issues have been kept to the fore.

It is expected that Pattangall, with the support of the Wilson administration, will be able to silence the demand for a change in campaign plans at least in so far as any open change of front is concerned. It is not improbable that without seeming to repudiate the White-House. Democratic speakers in Maine for the remaining days of the campaign will use the soft pedal in discussing national issues and seek to emphasize the record for economy which is claimed for Governor Curtis.

National Issues Told.

This will be comparatively easy of achievement, it is said, because the national issues have been set forth by Baker, Redfield, Gregory and others of the President's official family, and it will be assumed they have said all that was to be said on the subject. Hereafter was to be said on the subject. Hereafter the speakers will devote their attention the speakers will devote their attention chiefly to State affairs.

"Bafety first" is the slogan adopted by the friends of Governor Curtis. Why try an experiment with a new man like Carl E. Milliken, they say, when the voters have the opportunity to return to office a State Executive in the person of Cartis, who has shown he is both willing. 'urtis, who has shown he is both willing and able to save the taxpayers money?

The Republican reply to that campaign plea is a denial Governor Curtishas in fact practised economy. His econ omy, Republicans assert, has been a bogus economy, an attempt to show a surplus in the State treasury at the ex-pense of the efficiency of the various
